Where it is lawful and practicable, individuals will have the option of not identifying themselves and operating anonymously when entering into transactions with Outdoors Queensland.

Access to information:

Individuals will be provided with access to the personal information that Outdoors Queensland holds about them. If an employee wishes to gain access, they should seek agreement from the Executive Officer (or President).

Complaints:

Individuals who have complaints about privacy practices or about how their personal information is managed should contact the Executive Officer, in writing, who will deal with the matter under the Grievance and Disputes Policy or the Complaints Policy.

Data security:

Outdoors Queensland at times may contract out data storage or processing functions. Should this occur in the future, the organisation will undertake to implement measures to protect the information as part of the contract obligations and arrangements with our service providers.

Outdoors Queensland will take reasonable steps to make sure that the personal information it collects, uses, or discloses is accurate, complete, and up to date.

- Individuals have the right to request reasonable corrections to their personal information. There are some exceptions, however, that relate to law enforcement, and public or individual health & safety (refer to Act).

Outdoors Queensland will take reasonable steps to protect personal information held from misuse, loss, unauthorised access, modification, or disclosure:

- All computers will have password access;
- Access to the Outdoors Queensland database will be via password;
- Only authorised personnel will have access to Outdoors Queensland computers;
- Off-site storage of Outdoors Queensland backup hard drive will be in a suitably secure location;
- Hard copy documents that detail personal information such as membership forms will be stored in a locked filing cabinet;
- Information that is no longer needed, will be deleted, destroyed or de-identified;
- When sending emails to a group, 'blind carbon copy' will be used to ensure all recipient email addresses are not disclosed / recorded at the email destination unless express permission has been given to act otherwise.

Data Breaches Procedure

- Executive Officer will attempt to advise all effected people of the incident.
- If effected people cannot be reached, the Executive Officer will advise the Board to devise a strategy for handling the situation.
